

Tipton Communications Wins National Press Women Awards for Employee Communications and Website Development Work

NEWARK, Del., June 21, 2010--Tipton Communications, a Newark, Del., and Philadelphia-based employee communications, public relations and marketing agency, announced today that it won two 2010 awards for excellence in communications from The National Federation of Press Women, Inc. (NFPW).

Tipton was recognized for its "Carpenter Cares" employee recognition campaign, which was developed for Carpenter Technology Corporation in Reading, Pa., and for a website the company wrote, designed and coded for Immaculate Heart of Mary School in Towson, Md.

"We have a great team of experienced professional communicators who understand that our work is only as good as the results it produces on behalf of our clients," said Dan Tipton, president and CEO of Tipton Communications. "However, peer recognition is very nice and we are particularly proud to be recognized by NFPW, which has an outstanding reputation for its contributions to the communications industry.

Tipton was nominated for the 2010 NFPW awards after receiving multiple awards for excellence in communications from the Delaware Press Association (DPA).

"There were several other winners who are based in Delaware, which demonstrates the strength and quality of the communications community in the area," Tipton said.

The annual NFPW Communications Contest, which provides an opportunity to compete in a wide range of categories, encourages and rewards excellence in communication. Entries are judged by leaders in their fields of expertise.

The National Federation of Press Women is a dynamic nationwide organization of professional women and men pursuing careers across the communications spectrum. For more information on the NFPW visit their website at <http://www.nfpw.org> or call 1-800-780-2715.
